- Outstanding product quality: high-quality materials, neat and accurate processing and strictly-defined quality checks – according to the same standards as for OE parts
- Know-how for injection systems as Bosch develops and produces diesel and Denoxtronic injection systems
- Permanently updated program with very high market coverage
- High product availability thanks to an international sales and logistics network
- Strategic partner for the future with suitable diagnostic solutions and trainings for wholesalers and workshops

Bosch commercial vehicle filters product range

Diesel filters	Oil filters	Air filters	Cabin filters	Denoxtronic filters	Special filters
Bosch diesel filters protect the injection system. They reliably separate particles and water from fuel and contribute to optimum engine performance.	Bosch oil filters protect the engine and engine components, e.g. the turbocharger. They reliably remove soot and metal particles from engine oil.	Bosch air filters protect the engine and support a proper function of the sensors in the intake air duct. They reliably remove particles from the intake air and contribute to optimum engine performance.	Bosch cabin filters protect the vehicle occupants against pollen, fine dusts as well as harmful and foul-smelling gases.	Bosch Denoxtronic filters protect the Denoxtronic injection system. They reliably remove particles from AdBlue thus contributing to optimum dosing.	Special filters for special tasks – from air dryer cartridges, coolant and hydraulic oil filters through to oil mist separators.
