Cutting-edge ECU diagnosis for optimum efficiency

The sturdy new KTS modules KTS 560 and KTS 590 are based on the Bosch diagnostic application ESI[tronic]. Not only do they support all of today's relevant diagnostic protocols, but also future protocols based on Ethernet.

What's more, it is possible to operate several diagnostic protocols in parallel – enabling you to also use the vehicle manufacturer's portals for diagnosis and reprogramming in accordance with EURO 5.

Apart from vehicle communication, voltage, resistance and current can be measured easily and efficiently.

Furthermore, the KTS 590 is equipped with a two-channel oscilloscope that not only indicates voltage and current over time, but also analyses these directly. All of a vehicle's signals from sensors and actuators can be measured using the KTS 590 or KTS 560.

In addition to USB 2.0, powerful Bluetooth® hardware is built in to make a reliable mobile connection with a Windows-based PC.
